INTRODUCTION

Exams plays an important role in determining students' academic performance and future career choices. In order to face competitive forces, ever-changing technology, and changing needs of industry and service sector, students must be equipped with the necessary skills and decision-making abilities. Hence, Internal examination policy aims to cover various types of assessments to evaluate students' various abilities, such as application and presentation skills, analysis, evaluation, and so on.

Goals of the Policy:

- To provide students and faculty with clear guidelines regarding internal examination procedures

For the effective assessment of the programme the following procedures shall be followed:

- Student assessment should be as comprehensive as possible and provide meaningful and constructive feedback to faculty and student about the teaching-learning process;
- Assessment tasks need to evaluate the capacity to analyze and synthesize new information and concepts rather than simply recall information previously presented;
- The process of assessment should be carried on in a manner that encourages better student participation and rigorous study;
- Assessment should be a combination of continuous formative evaluation and an end-point summative evaluation;
- A range of tools and processes for assessment should be used (e.g. open book tests, portfolios, case study/assignments, seminars/presentations, field work, projects, dissertations, peer and self-assessment) in addition to the standard paper-pencil test. The teachers concerned shall conduct test/seminar/case study, etc. The students should be informed about the modalities well in advance. The evaluated courses/ assignments shall be immediately provided to the students;
- Paper-pencil tests should be designed rigorously using a range of tools and processes (e.g. constructed response, open ended items, multiple-choice with more than one correct
